The board of lady managers of the Washington Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital will hold a rummage sale for the benefit of the charity department at 1013 4 1/2 street southwest, beginning November 30 and ending December 5.

Friends of the hospital are requested to send in anything which can be sold in a rummage sale, and that means almost anything under the sun, no matter how old or how new, how perfect or how dilapidated. The variety may include everything from dog collar to a steamboat, and excludes nothing unless perhaps a dynamite bomb. Those who have donations to make will please send in their names to Mrs. Oscar H. Combe, 1127 Euclid street northwest, or, beginning today, call Main 1834, and arrangements will be made by the board of lady managers to have a wagon call for the donations.

The ladies in charge of the sale are as follows: Mrs. Oscar Wilkinson, Mrs. E. W. Harvey, Mrs. Appleby, Miss C. Barlow, Mesdames M. C. Bonham, Leo Bundy, John Bushey, G. H. Carter, C. F. Chamberlain, Ben Cole, O. Combe, Flora Dyer, R. E. Dyer, R. F. Fulker, J. T. Gibbs, C. L. Henry, S. W. Hastings, H. S. Irwin, S. E. Jackson, J. C. Kondrup, H. A. Mathews, G. A. Menze, Theo. SUFFRAGE WORKERS TELL OF CAMPAIGN IN WEST

Miss Anna McCue and Mrs. E. C. Latimer Talk at Reception and Tea at Headquarters.

Miss Anna McCue, a hosiery worker from Philadelphia, who campaigned for suffrage against the democratic candidates in Washington, and Mrs. E. C. Latimer of Baltimore, who conducted the campaign in Kansas, were the principal speakers at the reception and tea of Congressional Union for Women Suffrage in the headquarters at 1420 F street last evening.

In the absence of Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the union, who was in New York in conference upon the suffrage campaign with Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Miss Elsie Hill and Miss Hazel Mackaye were hostesses.

Discussing the campaign in Washington, Miss McCue said the suffragists met their strongest opposition from the democrats and that they were accused of being the "servants of the republican party." Miss McCue said that the election of C. Dill, democrat, of the sixth congressional district, was a victory for the suffrage cause. Mr. Dill, she said, had pledged his support to the suffragists.

Neeley Defeat Charged to Women.

The women of Kansas were responsible for the defeat of George A. Neeley, democratic candidate for the United States Senate, according to Mrs. Latimer. Mrs. Latimer declared that if Neeley had not "sidestepped the suffrage question he would have profited by the split in the republican party and would have been sent to Washington."

Both Neeley's opponents—Curtis, the victorious republican candidate, and Murdock, progressive—Mrs. Latimer said, had declared themselves for equal suffrage.

HARDSHIP ON EMPLOYES.

Rear Admiral Blue Explains Law Governing Paymasters' Clerks.

According to Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, the situation of paymasters' clerks in the navy "is unfortunate." He explains that the present law requires the appointment of a clerk to expire upon the detachment of his pay officer, which requirement, he says, is often an injustice to the clerk, who finds himself without employment through no fault of his own, and usually entails considerable expense to the government in paying mileage to his home and also mileage of a new clerk for the same pay officer to duty, and, in addition, makes work that should be unnecessary in the Navy Department.

A bill proposing to put the clerks in the same status as warrant officers is now pending before Congress and has the approval of the department. That bill would limit all future appointments of paymasters' clerks to the enlisted personnel of the navy, and, according to Admiral Blue, would afford a field for advancement for the yeomen branch, the members of which are not now eligible for advancement to warrant grade.

Edmonston's Instep-Brace, Foot-Form Boots Prevent Such Trouble as This

THERE is no stronger evidence of the need of properly shaped, perfect fitting footwear than the condition of the shoe illustrated. It shows that the ankles, the arch and entire structure of the foot need support. Such support is sufficiently provided by the steel brace which is built in our Instep Brace Foot Form

Boots. By supporting the arch of the foot these boots strengthen weak ankles, correct flat foot, restore the bones of the foot to their normal position and relieve those distressing foot pains so often attributed to foot rheumatism. Instep Brace Foot Form Boots are shown in styles for men, women and boys.

Instep-Brace, Foot-Form Boots for Children

Are effective in preventing and correcting foot troubles due to sickness, heredity or other causes. They help growing feet to develop as nature intended. Consult us about the needs of your feet as you'd consult a physician about matters of health.
